Scientific Meeting

Thursday, 27 September 2018
from 08:00 to 17:30

Networking Dinner

Thursday, 27 September 2018
from 18:00 to 22:00

Symposium

Friday, 28 September 2018
from 08:00 to 12:00

Chaired by Brenden Mulhern, MRes and Richard Norman, PhD, this full-day meeting and half-day symposium in Hobart, Australia will provide a forum to present and discuss innovative developments in health preference research. The Scientific Meeting will include peer-reviewed podium presentations, lunch (with poster session), and a business session followed by a networking dinner. If you are interested in presenting your research at the Scientific Meeting, the abstract submission system will open in April and close 8 June 2018.

The Symposium will focus on “The Design of Discrete Choice Experiments” and include a panel discussion on alternative approaches to selection of attribute-level combinations and choice sets. Both the scientific meeting and symposium will be held at the Hobart Function and Conference Centre (HFCC; right).

All are welcome to register for the meeting ($175 USD for students; $350 USD for non-students), for the symposium ($125 USD for students; $250 USD for non-students), or for both ($250 USD for students; $500 USD for non-students). Early registration will open in July and close on 20 August 2018. Afterwards, all fees double. Attendance is limited.

Hobart Function and Conference Center
1 Elizabeth Street Pier
Hobart, Tasmania, 7000 Australia

The Glass House
Brooke Street Pier
Hobart, Tasmania, 7000 Australia

All registered attendees are invited to attend the networking dinner at the Glass House (next to the HFCC; left) known for its Tasmanian inspired small plates, international flair and 280 degree water views. At this dinner, attendees will be served seven courses (chef's selection menu) and a choice of wines. This dinner is included with registration for either the symposium, meeting or both (no guests, please).
